

ABSTRACT

The invention is characterized in comprising: a network (1); a server connected to the network (30); and user side equipment (101) for presenting advertisements to a user while transferring data with the server via the network. Moreover, there is further provided a server (20) for delivering the advertisements to the user side equipment.

10018510-121401